Dear Teachers & Staff at Saltford Primary School,

We know that that you may have had a tough year. Frontline workers are often painted as 'heroes', though we know that they may not always feel this way. We know that some be nervous about coming to work, and that they have been under immense pressure from all sides to keep students learning, whilst also keeping us all safe. Knowing how challenging it is for teachers in normal times has made us wonder how you've managed with all these new systems and processes, among other challenges, when the only constant is change.

We want you to know that we appreciate you, and everything that you've been doing – so much. We know it hasn't been plain sailing & that you've been working hard throughout. But it's not just us that appreciates your work; this canvas is splattered with hundreds of drawings from those we are all working so hard for. We asked our children if they would like to make a drawing of their favourite teacher, as a thank you for everything they've been doing during this last year to keep them learning, and to keep their families safe. These children are not just from Saltford Primary School, but are from all the schools that we work with. Your students and their families really do appreciate everything you've been putting in, and we want to make sure you know that too.

Perhaps you might like to hang this somewhere you feel it might motivate staff the most, as a reminder for everything you've done during this last year. The way we've all dealt with this will be remembered in the years to come & we want you to feel a sense of pride over what you've achieved, as we look to the future with a renewed appreciation for those little freedoms that are on pause.

We hope to be back to normal soon - we're testing twice weekly too, and we are so, so ready. Some students & parents have been incredible in supporting us – though we're around 50% down in students overall, and we have a lot of hard work ahead of us to regain that lost ground before full expenditure hits. It's going to be an adventure, but we're optimistic. The gratitude we've felt has been immense and has made it all worth it.

If there's anything we can do for you in the coming months, we're here – just give us a shout.

Many thanks,
